Wilpena Pound Resort

Background

Wilpena Pound Resort is located in the Flinders Ranges, South Australia. The appeal of this lush outback location for both independent travelers and groups is; the unique beauty of the landscape, clear open outback contrasted with lush and abundant wildlife, its rich and living indigenous culture, ancient geological formations, and true outback hospitality.

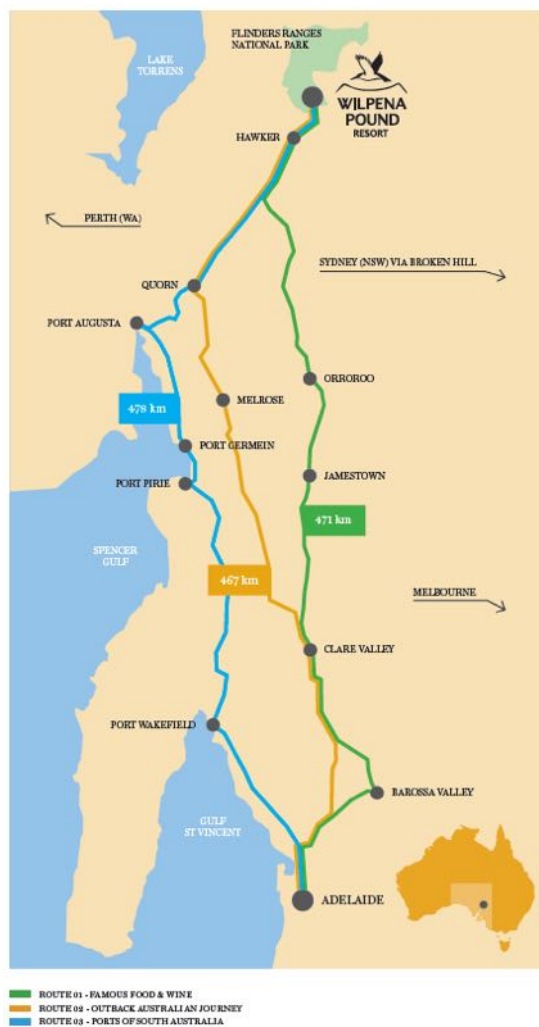

The vibrant colours of the Flinders Ranges, an 800 million-year-old quartzite and limestone outcrop, are truly spectacular. At its heart is Wilpena Pound, a natural amphitheatre 17km long and 8km wide shaped by the weathering and uplifting of land over time.

The local Adnyamathana people call Wilpena Pound, 'Ikara' (ii-ka-ra). Ikara means 'Meeting Place' and is home to many sacred Aboriginal rituals and stories. The most prominent and significant of these stories is the creation story of Yurlu (Kingfisher) and the two Akurra (Serpents) that now form the walls of Ikara.

At the edge of this natural wonder lies Wilpena Pound Resort. The resort blends well into the landscape and provides comfortable accommodation and is the perfect setting for any event or conference.

Location

Wilpena Pound Resort is located in the Flinders Ranges, South Australia (Approximately 470 kilometers north of Adelaide). It is accessible by sealed roads or by a connected scenic air tour.

Meeting Spaces

Board Room

Wilpena Pound Resort has a board room which is perfect for small meetings, presentations and group training sessions. The room has its own separate entry, phone and power.

Conference Room

Located behind the Wilpena Pound Resort main restaurant this open space is your blank canvas, specifically created for group meetings and events.

Wilpena Pound Resort Restaurant

The restaurant looks out over a 400 year old River Red Gum tree and a grassed area in front of the main building. Open to all resort guests for lunch and dinner, the space is available for groups and hire throughout the day. When combined with the Conference Room, this space is suitable for larger groups.

Ikara Safari Camp Main Tent

The Ikara Main Tent is where guests staying at Ikara are served a hot breakfast each morning. The facility is available to utilise through the day as required (10am-4pm).

Activities

Getting out discovering the beautiful Wilpena Pound and Flinders Ranges National Park is an absolute must for any group travelling to the region. Below is just a selection of the options available to choose from.

Option	Cost (per person)	Details
Local Indigenous Culture Tour	$55	Discover the rich living culture of the Adnyamathanha people. Estimated at over 5000 years old, Akaroo Rock is a culturally significant site in a stunning Australian landscape. An indigenous (Adnyamathanha) local guide will share the significance of the site and interpret the ochre, charcoal and rock engravings. You will also hear stories suggested to be over 60,000 years old. Visually and culturally Akaroo Rock is a testament to one of the oldest living cultures in the world.
Stokes Hill Sundowners	$58	Depart the Resort in the groups coach vehicle and drive 30 minutes to Stokes Hill, 1 ½ hours prior to sunset. Including beer, wine, sparkling wine and soft drinks, as well as specialized canapés. A fantastic way to finish the day while marveling at the ancient landscape from a spectacular local viewing location.
Scenic Flight (30 min)	$199	A “must do” experience and the only way to see Wilpena Pound in all of its immense majesty is from the air. This puts it into perspective and enables you to appreciate the vastness of its formation.
1/2 day guided 4WD tour	$189	Discover the fascinating geological, cultural and settler’s history of the Flinders Ranges. The world renowned “Corridor Through Time” explores more than 100 million years of this history of the earth. Learn the Adnyamathanha creation story of Wilpena Pound and search for the Yellow Footed Rock Wallaby.
