WILPENA POUND RESORT

Ikara - Flinders Ranges, South Australia

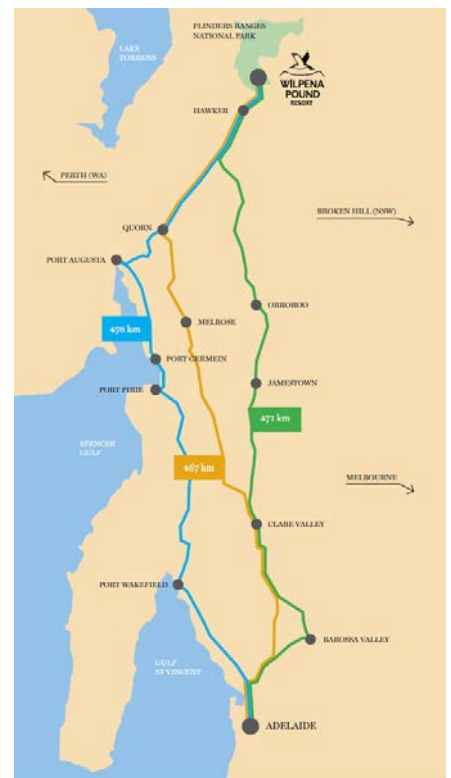

Wilpena Pound (Ikara) has been a sacred place of gathering for the Adnyamathanha people for tens of thousands of years. Their cultural creation stories revolve around people meeting at Ikara, and at Wilpena Pound Resort we encourage this to continue.

- Relaxing natural environment
- Meeting rooms for up to 80
- Outdoor space for concerts, gala dinners, special events
- Meetings
- Weddings

Wilpena Pound Resort is located in the Ikara-Flinders Ranges National Park, South Australia (430 kilometres north of Adelaide). It is accessible by sealed roads from Adelaide and Port Augusta, or via a light plane scenic flight transfer.

The local Adnyamathana people call Wilpena Pound, 'Ikara' (ii-ka-ra). Ikara means 'Meeting Place' and is home to many sacred Aboriginal rituals and stories. The most prominent and significant of these stories is the creation story of Yurlu (Kingfisher) and the two Akurra (Serpents) that now form the walls of Wilpena Pound.

At the edge of this natural wonder lies Wilpena Pound Resort. The resort blends well into the landscape and provides comfortable accommodation and is the perfect setting for any event or conference.

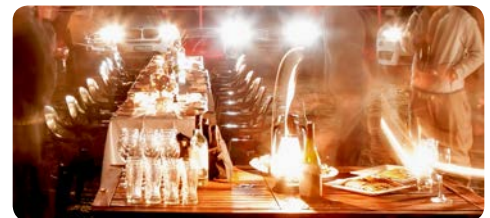

Ground Transport

We can arrange coach transfers for your group from Adelaide or Port Augusta Airport. We can also arrange the services of a local guide who will provide them with stories, history and information during the journey. The transfer from Adelaide could be for lunch in the beautiful Clare Valley, this is a connected and casual way to get to Wilpena Pound and the Ikara-Flinders Ranges. (Min 10 passengers)

Air Charter

Offering great views of the scenic South Australian outback, light plane is the quickest and most awe-inspiring way to arrive at Wilpena Pound. This service is provided by Alliance Airlines and WrightsAir. The journey consists of two flight sectors (approximately 1.5 hours each) which connect at Olympic Dam Airport (OLP). (Group discounts available on request)
